OPTIONAL ACTIVITIES

These events are presented for your enjoyment, but also as examples of the kinds of ministries and activities that could be done in any congregation and would appeal to those in recovery from addiction.

CENTERING PRAYER

Join us in Centering Prayer practicing the 11th Step- Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out.

Centering Prayer is a method of silent meditation that opens the pathways to a deeper relationship with the God of your understanding.

The practice of silence is 20 minutes beginning in a short sacred reading. It is a time that helps bring spiritual awakening both healing and leading us into the world.

LECTIO DIVINA

A time to rest in God's loving presence and to be attentive to what the Spirit is bringing to us. I'll use the practice of Lectio Divina as our format and Psalm 103:1-5 as our scripture for reflection. The session will last about 30 minutes.

In Western Christianity, Lectio Divina (Latin for "Divine Reading") is a traditional monastic practice of scriptural reading, meditation and prayer intended to promote communion with God and to increase the knowledge of God's Word. In the view of one commentator, it does not treat scripture as texts to be studied, but as the Living Word.

Traditionally, Lectio Divina has four separate steps: read; meditate; pray; contemplate. First a passage of scripture is read, then its meaning is reflected upon. This is followed by prayer and contemplation on the Word of God.

12-STEP MEETINGS

12-Step meetings have been found by many to be the most effective means of recovering from addiction.

OPEN MEETING

Open to the public. Anyone is welcome to come and experience a 12-Step Meeting whether you are in recovery or not. Come and just listen or participate. Open meetings are for people recovering from any type of addiction.

DROP-IN MEETING

Attendees are welcome to arrive and depart any time they like.

CLOSED MEETING

For any person anywhere who has or thinks they may have a desire to stop drinking. One need not have attended any meetings previously to attend a 'Closed' meeting.

CLERGY ONLY MEETING

For clergy only.

AL-ANON MEETING

For people who are worried about someone with a drinking problem. Its purpose is to help families and friends of alcoholics find hope and encouragement to live joyful, serene lives. It is a spiritually based organization that helps the families and friends of alcoholics connect and support each other through meetings, information, and shared experiences and find hope and encouragement to live joyful, serene lives. Although people commonly turn to Al-Anon for help in stopping another's drinking, the organization recognizes that the friends and families of alcoholics are often traumatized themselves and in need of emotional support and understanding.

NARCAN TRAINING

Thursday, 3-6 p.m.

by Randy Anderson, from Bold North Recovery and Consulting

Everyone should learn how to recognize and reverse an opioid overdose.

- What Naloxone (Narcan) is
- How it works when administered
- How to recognize the signs of an opioid overdose
- When to give naloxone

THERAPEUTIC CHAIR MASSAGE

Thursday, 3-6 p.m.

By Jawara Morris

Relax your mind, body and spirit with a 30-minute chair massage. During these sessions, the therapist kneads the shoulders, back, and neck through the client's clothing to help alleviate tension and stress.

30 minutes for $30 fee

BREAKOUT SESSIONS CONT.

The Psychedelic Renaissance, Trauma & Recovery

Tim Mahan King, author of "Addiction Nation"

Learn what the latest research has to say about the use of psychedelic-assisted therapy in treating depression, PTSD and substance use disorders. We will explore the surprising history of these substances in relationship to origins of the 12-Steps movement and Hebrew and Christian scriptures. Participants will walk away with a better understanding of the science of psychedelics and a moral framework for understanding the opportunities and challenges ahead.

Developing Transformational Leaders for Addiction Ministry

Drew Brooks, Executive Director - Faith Partners, Inc.

This interactive workshop describes the Faith Partners' evidence-based model of congregational readiness and capacity-building that moves faith leaders from rare conversations about behavioral health to active involvement in community prevention and recovery support activities. Participants will receive tools, strategies, and a spiritual basis to initiate an effective, sustainable ministry in their congregational communities.

How Your Faith Community Can Become an Agent of Prevention

Rev. Joy Gonneman, Certified Prevention Specialist, International Gaming Disorder Specialist - Rosecrance Jackson Centers, Sioux City, Iowa

Substance Use Disorder and process disorders are issues of community health. We know that 90% of adults with substance use disorder started using in their teens so the youth around us need our help. Addiction is not a moral failing but rather a disease of the brain so our concern is not one of morality but of brain health. We also know that there are factors that put a young person at greater risk for substance use disorder. Communities of faith are ideally situated for providing protective factors for individuals, communities and systems all by holding Matthew 25 as our guide. How better for communities gathered in faith to reach out to neighbors? There is both a science and a passion for this work. Expect to learn of the continuum of care, the cycle of addiction, risk factors and protective factors that you can use as individuals and as faith leaders.

Addiction, Recovery and the American Family

Rev. Dr. Dan Gibson, Primary Counselor, Teen Program, Thelma McMillen Recovery Center

This workshop offers a historical context of the American family (from the mid-20th Century to the present day) and how that has contributed to the various trends of substance abuse in our society today. Along the way, we discuss the various myths and foundations of addiction, how family members commonly react to substance abuse in the home, and conclude with helpful approaches for the family that include prevention, maintaining a healthy "balance," and seeking recovery for the whole family.

JUSTICE TRACK | Leveraging Harm Reduction Approaches to Transform Drug Treatment

Rev. Dr. Charles King, Co-founder & CEO of Housing Works, Inc.

Harm reduction is often viewed as a stepping-stone to drug treatment. In fact, while much of harm reduction work focuses on short term interventions to prevent disease transmission, overdose and other adverse outcomes associated with drug use, and can serve as a vehicle to move people toward traditional drug treatment, it can also be a holistic, person-centered, and trauma-informed approach to addressing substance use disorder without the imperative of abstinence from drugs as the only acceptable outcome.

This workshop will review a plethora of changes in approach to drug treatment that fully center on a harm reduction approach. This will include regulatory changes in the New York State Office of Addiction Supports and Services, the federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services, and the US Justice Department.

NOTES

TO THE 2022 ADDICTION AND FAITH CONFERENCE

PURPOSE

With the growing concern over the devastation of all forms of addiction including the ever-increasing opioid crisis, and with the added challenge of a pandemic the Center of Addiction & Faith presents this important gathering on addiction and faith to raise awareness of the terrible addiction problem we face and how the church and people of faith can help to address it.

The 2022 conference will focus on the correlation between addiction and trauma. Trauma increases the risk of developing substance abuse, and substance abuse increases the likelihood of being re-traumatized by engaging in high-risk behavior. It is also true that individuals who are abusing drugs and/or alcohol are less able to cope with traumatic events.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

- Link congregations and congregation leaders with information and resources that can help them fight addiction in their local congregations and communities.
- Discover proven, innovative and creative ways colleagues are successfully ministering to those addicted and their loved ones.
- Increase knowledge and learn new ways to create healing ministries for the benefit of the church, the communities we serve, and to humankind.

CENTER OF ADDICTION & FAITH

This conference is hosted by The Center of Addiction & Faith (CAF). The CAF works to awaken faith communities to be more fully places of welcome and healing for persons with addiction and those who love them. We are a cross-cultural, inter-faith network sought out and supported by faith communities, mental health and addiction experts, religiously-inclined people who seek recovery from addiction, and change agents, including legislators and philanthropists. Our vision is a world of human and institutional flourishing that inches closer toward grace and community, away from the brokenness and isolation imposed by addiction and exacerbated by uninformed theology and scapegoat politics. In other words, our vision is: Faith, Science, Justice, Compassion.

Certificates will be available through Friday night for 8.5 hours and for 9.75 hours following the final session of the conference. Pick up your certificate Friday evening or Saturday by noon at the registration table.

PHOTOGRAPHS & VIDEO TAPING

Typically, photographs are taken at a conference like this for education and promotional materials. Please be aware that all events in the ballroom are being video-taped for virtual attendees. We will be taking photos of speakers and limited group photos while being sensitive to the fact that there still too much stigma associated with addiction. We ask that if you take personal photos, please be aware of others in your pictures and be mindful where you may post them. Thank you.

BREAKOUT SESSIONS

Improve Mental Health Access through Collaboration

Vicki Elliott, Executive Director - Mental Health Connect

How can we provide mental health preventative care? How can we change the story around mental health and substance use? How can we let people know we care and will walk with them? How can we work together, share ideas and grow? Mental Health Connect is a non-profit collaborative model for faith communities, working together to support all people on their journey in life. I'll talk about how MHC began, what the goals are, how we bring people together, the critical systems in place, how we're making progress and reaching people right where they are.

Grace and Healing: The Role of Faith in Posttraumatic Growth

Keaton Douglas, iThirst Initiative, Executive Director

Many who endure pain and traumatic life events such as, death, divorce, abuse or loss of any sort can experience positive life events after the fact. Many individuals of faith have even experienced a development of inner strength, which leads to deeper and more intimate relationships with God and their fellows. This seminar explores both the empirical evidence as well as the Scriptural evidence for why we can be transformed and healed through our pain.

Bridging Spirituality of Recovery and Trauma

Kathleen McCauley, Hazelden Betty Ford Renewal Specialist

In recovery we bond in the sharing of our woundedness. Here we will continue this sharing and exploration of the psychological and spiritual woundedness which propels addiction. The theological principles of Wholeness: mind, body and spirit are the foundation of the Spirituality of Recovery. Incorporating theologians and writers such as: Parker Palmer, John Eldredge, Brené Brown and Tara Brach, we will see the threads of spirituality in the journey of healing and wholeness.

JUSTICE TRACK | Drug Policy and the Common Good

Tim King, author of "Addiction Nation"

Does drug policy in the United States serve the common good? You won't be surprised to learn the answer is "no." In this workshop, participants will learn about the foundational ideas behind current drug policy. We will explore models that could protect the common good, create a public health response to drug use and end the so-called "War on Drugs."

Family Trauma Patterns from Addiction

Michael Borowiak, MSW, LICSW - Traverse Counseling & Consulting

Families with addiction often experience trauma that results in unhealthy coping strategies to survive difficult circumstances. Using a trauma-informed lens, this presentation looks at the ways interactional trauma from the behaviors of addiction may cause a loss of attachment and nurturance within the family. The interactional patterns can be a source of trauma that can impact all family members. This presentation will explore common interactional patterns that can be problematic and identify new interactional patterns to assist families and those struggling with addiction to heal.

Gambling Disorder, Substance Use Disorder and Mental Health – Trauma Doesn't Discriminate

Susan Sheridan Tucker, Executive Director, Minnesota Alliance on Problem Gambling

A closer look at gambling disorder and why we need to be paying attention to it.

It has only been in the last 10 years that gambling disorder has been recognized as a peer addiction to substance use disorder and shares strong ties to significant mental health issues. Yet the public, policymakers, addiction and mental health providers understand so little about this addiction. In this session, we'll cover the basics of gambling disorder: signs, causes, current understanding of its relationships with other addictions and mental health. We will also discuss the connection between trauma and gambling and the current state of gambling disorder in our health system.

JUSTICE TRACK | Harm Reduction and Healing Centered Engagement in Spiritual Care

Rev Erica Poellot, MSW, MDiv, and Rev. Michelle Mathis

At a time when preventable drug overdose deaths continue to grow, it is essential to ensure that spiritual care with people with lived experience of substance use and overdose is aligned in a way that optimizes connection, decreases stigma, is strengths based, and reduces the social and health complications associated with drug use.

This session will review the ethos of harm reduction, its intersections with trauma informed spiritual care, and the evolution towards a more holistic healing centered engagement approach to care. The presenters will demonstrate how this can be applied to a variety of ministry settings to expand reach and impact of spiritual care services.

KEYNOTE & PLENARY SPEAKERS

JOHANN HARI

Why We Need to End the Traumatic War on Drugs

What if everything you think you know about addiction is wrong? One of Johann Hari's earliest memories is of trying to wake up one of his relatives and not be able to. As he grew older, he realized he had addiction in his family. Confused, unable to know what to do, he set out on a three-year, 30,000-mile journey to discover what really causes addiction – and what really solves it.

REV. DR. MONTEIC A. SIZER

Spiritual Determinants of Trauma and Opioid Addiction: A Case for Health Equity and Reconciliation

Dr. Sizer will examine the biblical origin of trauma and its relationship to opioid addiction in America. Further, this keynote presentation will explore how social and environmental factors contribute to societal inequalities and increased opioid use and misuse. Lastly, the keynote speaker will make the case for health equity and racial reconciliation in America.

REV. DR. QUE ENGLISH

Leading While Bleeding: The Hidden Trauma

The Duke Clergy Health Initiative launched one of the most comprehensive studies on clergy health of its kind. One of their key findings: Clergy's practice of putting others first can be detrimental to their own health, including their mental wellbeing. In March 2022, 42% of Christian pastors considered resigning — up from the 29% who did the same in January 2021. Two of the biggest reasons clergy cited were immense stress and feelings of isolation and loneliness. Faith leaders are facing pressure from all sides as needs increase in the community. At the same time, responsibilities and expectations for faith leaders are ever expanding, sometimes with fewer and fewer resources. While it is important and necessary for clergy to care for those hurting in their community, it is just as important for faith leaders to take care of themselves as they take care of others. This talk will focus on how clergy can identify warning signs of burnout and compassion fatigue and take steps to practice self-care as we work to empower faith leaders to take care of themselves as they take care of others.

TIMOTHY MCMAHAN KING

"Faith in the Face of Trauma and Crisis"

Faith persists despite all the obstacles. The same is true for addiction. Amid an ongoing and unprecedented trauma crisis of overdose and addiction, Timothy McMahan King will call us all to keep the faith.

SPECIAL GUEST SPEAKER

Harriet Rossetto, LCSW

Founder of Beit T'Shuvah
in Los Angeles

GUEST PREACHER

Rev. Charles King

Co-founder & CEO of Housing Works, Inc.

A NOTE ON WORSHIP

A recovery worship service will follow the general session on Thursday. An evening devotional worship will be held on Friday evening. Worship with Holy Communion will be celebrated on Saturday morning at the end of the conference. All services are designed to be inclusive and ecumenical. All are welcome to these services and all are welcome to receive Communion.

WORKSHOPS

Thrive Family Resources

by Pam Lanhart

This workshop will equip faith leaders, peers, providers and professionals to help families engage in a recovery-oriented, strengths-based model of change. We will show how these practices align with virtually any faith values, how they can gain insights and education that help them formulate an empathetic response and how they can make responsive rather than reactive decisions.

Mastery -A Path for Building Long-term Recovery

by Barry Lehman

Mastery is simply getting better at something that's important to you. It includes having a beginner's mind to stick with the basics, the willingness to be persistent in actions and practice, developing mindfulness, awareness and gratitude, and the willingness to work with a sponsor, mentor, or coach.

Meditative Movement

by Ellie Peterson

This workshop will equip faith leaders and peers to work with individuals impacted by addiction. Your faith can be enhanced and embodied by practicing the simple Meditative Movements which can be completed during a routine day and are adaptable to anyone's physical ability.

Supporting Recovery in Faith and Community Settings

by Greg Delaney

"The on-going SURGE of the addiction and mental health crisis has left no community untouched, but we have a great resource within our communities of faith! By sharing strategies for engagement and education, this session will serve to inspire attendees to not just strategically leverage this critical often untapped network and workforce within their community, but introduce easily accessible tools and training for those ready to engage!"
